We dedicate the 1954 Medley to every facet of Danville High School life that has left an impression on us:

To our teachers for developing our minds;

To our clubs for developing our hobbies and special interests;

To our athletics for developing our bodies and sense of fair play;

To the administration and everyone whose job it was to see that our school ran efficiently;

To our advisers for knowing "how to do things" when we had problems;

To the student body who furnished the reason for publishing a yearbook in the first place.

THE MEDLEY STAFF.

This year's Medley is built around dual themes. We have tried to refresh in the minds of our readers those rights which are a part of our American Heritage, and the way in which they are practiced in our schools. We should also like to show how, through the schools, qualities which will make people better able to appreciate and preserve these rights and assume their responsibilities in the future, have been developed in individuals.

THE EDITOR.

Teachers relate their experiences . . .

We should remember that members of our faculty, too often looked upon as people out of the ordinary, have been through the same things we are now going through and have, no doubt, made some of the same mistakes we are making. To those of us who will listen, a great opportunity is given to profit from the experience of those older and wiser than we. Our teachers prepare us for what lies ahead, whether it be college or a full time job after graduation from high school. They strive to plant in us the seed of curiosity and to develop our initiative and resourcefulness in confronting new situations.

City

In the attempt to make our city schools the best possible, Dr. J. McLean Reed has put forth a praise-deserving effort. His job as superintendent of the Danville City Schools has been a large one, but has been very capably handled. Not willing to stop with this huge job, Dr. Reed has extended his talent to many civic organizations. His patience, knowledge, and understanding have made him a friend to all who came in contact with him.

The secretarial staff of Superintendent Reed's office is one that is deserving of all praise and recognition that can be given it. Doing all secretarial work for Dr. Reed, keeping the records for the nineteen public schools, and doing all filing for both is only a fraction of the work carried out by these hard workers.

Mr. Loy O. Froman in his second year as Business Director of the Danville City Schools has proved that the faith shown in him when he was appointed to this job was justified. It was his job to coordinate the purchases of the various schools and to oversee the spending of all money.

Standing: Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Kerby. Seated: Mrs. Johnson.

Administration

For the past five years, Dr. H. Williamson has led the Board of Education in its struggle for the betterment of public schools. The board was composed of civic-minded people who gave freely of their time in an effort to make the schools function smoothly and properly. With the aid of the seven members of the board, Dr. Williamson has done much toward this cause.

High School

Mr. E. D. Milhon, principal of Danville High School for the past six years, has put forth much time and effort toward a better and more complete education for teen-agers. Being the father of a teen-age girl, he has learned that understanding and sympathy of everyday problems were most needed in making a success of his position. It was in using this knowledge that Mr. Milhon became the friend he was to all students.

E. D. MILHON

Indiana Central College, B.S.
Butler University, M.S.

As director of guidance, Mr. E. A. Bates performed various tasks. Students came to him for help in rearranging programs, adjusting schedules, and for counsel in preparation for college. One of his most important tasks was that of supervising scholastic tests. Throughout the year several personality, IQ and vocational guidance tests were given to students who were interested. All Seniors were required to take tests on the Constitution of the United States and the State of Illinois, thus adding to the already heavy burden carried by Mr. Bates.

The staff in the principal's office must keep all class records, prepare the honor roll list, and get out the school bulletins besides taking care of the business correspondence of the principal and all statistics of DHS.

Administration

By using his wit and wisdom toward gaining the friendship of all Danville High School students and faculty members, D. V. Schoolcraft has become one of the most popular persons in DHS. It was through his guidance as Dean of Boys that many have been influenced toward better futures. Some of Mr. Schoolcraft's wise sayings such as "The empty cart rattles the most," will long be remembered as a part of life here at DHS.

HELEN THOMPSON

University of Illinois, A.B.

Because of her interest in all Danville High School students and because of her kindness and willingness to help, Miss Helen Thompson will always be one of those individuals longest remembered by DHS graduates. Besides acting as Dean of Girls, Miss Thompson also served as advisor for Student Council and Y-Teens, and as director for student monitors. These organizations owe much of their success to the time and effort put forth by this energetic person.

The business office staff has the job of taking care of all money matters for the school. They control the finances of all DHS organizations and also are in charge of distributing tickets during football and basketball seasons, and of selling tickets for Moments Musical.

Cafeteria

Second Row: M. Pickett, I. Boyd, R. Fanson, N. Bradfield, O. Carroll, Mr. Cole, L. Shepherd. First Row: D. Rarion, J. Seibert, G. Bartlow, M. Prouse, S. Hempel.

Although DHS students didn't spend much of their time in the cafeteria, the students enjoyed themselves every moment they were there. A pleasant atmosphere was created through the efforts of the cafeteria staff. Individual tables and soft music which echoed over the loud speakers created a friendly feeling among all.

New methods of serving the food were devised this year in order to provide faster and more efficient service for the students. Six lines were formed—four for the plate lunch and two for the short order. This new system was possible because of new equipment which, although the students were not aware of it, was of much use to the kitchen staff.

The experienced kitchen staff spent much time preparing the delicious lunches. New steam tables made it possible to keep the food hot. Student helpers of the cafeteria served the food, scraped dishes, and made change for the lunch lines. A dishwasher, which was first used last year, contributed to time and energy-saving devices. Only because of the hard work of these people was it possible for the students to enjoy their lunch periods.

Mr. Chick Cole was in charge of the cafeteria, and he supervised all cafeteria details. Whenever the school held parties or other activities which required candy or potato chips, Mr. Cole took the responsibility of ordering them.

The students lined up for lunch.

Maintenance Staff

Mr. C. Plymire, Superintendent of Buildings

Standing: J. Briggs, P. Kronst, E. Hartshorn, L. Neville, C. Meers, C. Hill. Seated: M. Cunningham, E. Stuebe, L. Bennett, F. Hicks, R. Keefer, F. Bonebrake, D. Martin, F. Bailey, V. Parker, A. Williams.

Few of us ever stop to consider the job that is actually done by the maintenance staff of DHS. It is the job of these hard working men and women to keep the school neat and clean both inside and outside. Few of us stop to realize just how much extra work we cause them, especially after basketball and football games. Because of their willingness to help, few of us know that it is not their job to come to the aid of students on special jobs such as cleaning up dropped ink bottles.

Head custodian, Mr. Earl Hartshorn, had the job of caring for stage scenery, lights, curtains, and other articles in the auditorium. Without his assistance it would have been impossible to present the various plays, assemblies and musicals put on by the organizations using the DHS stage.

C. J. Plymire served in the capacity of superintendent of all city school buildings and it was his job to oversee the maintenance of these buildings.

PTA

Mrs. A. R. Brandenberger, Mrs. M. Lewis, Mrs. H. Gerrard, Mrs. P. Timmons, Pres., Mr. E. D. Milhon, Mrs. R. Wittig, Mrs. E. Hallett.

The Danville High School PTA, composed of parents and teachers interested in promoting the welfare of their own and other children in the home, school, church, and community, met four times this year.

The programs for 1953-1954 were of wide variety and interest. At the September meeting the freshman parents were honored. All who attended toured the building and later were served refreshments in the Home Economics Department. A talk on juvenile problems was featured at the November meeting by sociologist James Cook. Seven past presidents were present at the February meeting at which a film on world trade was shown. A student panel was the highlight of the April meeting when DHS students were honored.

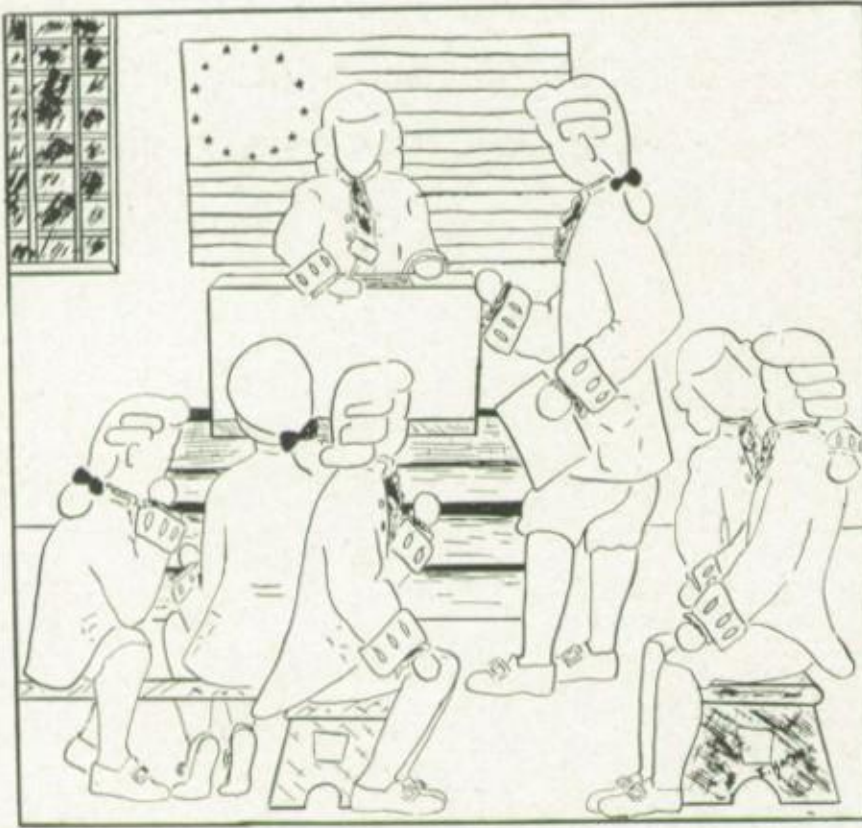

The major project of the PTA was a student aid fund which provided $100 per dean annually for the aid of needy students. Each dean distributed the fund as he saw the need. Another project was that of conducting a survey for the city school board to determine the potential growth in the school enrollment in Danville. The members of the Douglas School District assisted with this project, which was done in cooperation with PTA's in other cities.

Officers of this year's PTA were Mrs. Paul Timmons, president; Mrs. Melvin Lewis, 1st vice-president; E. D. Milhon, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. A. R. Brandenberger, secretary; Mrs. Willard Shipman, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Estes, program director; and Mrs. Walter Yovaish, membership director.

Clubs give right of free

For many years students at D.H.S. have enjoyed belonging to the many clubs found here. Beside the fun of association with friends, there are many benefits to be gained from club work. One of these is the opportunity to discover and develop new hobbies and special interests. In four years of club membership a student learns to be a follower with opportunities of developing into a leader. A student also profits from expressing his own ideas and in turn listening to the ideas of other students and older experienced people who appear before him. The right of free assembly then means much to our school.

Medley

Standing: Mr. Hogbin, P. Ribbe, H. Redding, B. Hannah, Miss Watkins, M. Bernard, P. Prast. Seated: B. King, L. Allen, Editor, B. Ross. Absent: Mr. Espy.

The first yearbook was published back in 1904 and since that time it has been recording the highlights, the fun, the tears, and the joys of life in DHS. Each year though the goal of the book has remained the same, the staff has striven to improve it in every way possible.

Early in the year the job of the business staff began with an assembly at which time subscriptions were taken. It was the job of Bill Hannah and his staff to keep track of all records showing payments on subscriptions.

Selling ads to businesses in town began early in the year, too, and the whole Medley staff took part in this. Howard Redding and his assistant, Carl Groen, were in charge here and it was their job to see that pictures for the ads were taken, copy was obtained, and that the advertising section was correctly laid out.

Information about clubs, sports, and activities was gathered all through the year and Mary Bernard and her assistant, Phyllis Prast, were kept busy writing these for Medley use.

It was the job of the editor, Larry Allen, and his assistant, Phil Ribbe, to determine what pictures must be taken and then how they would be used in the book.

The theme of the book was decided by the editors and all work was under the guidance of the adviser, Miss Frances Watkins, and her co-advisers, Miss Betty Sullenberger, Mr. Ralph Espy, and Mr. Finley Hogbin.

BUSINESS STAFF

Standing: B. Stott, T. Wurtsbaugh, M. A. Leisch, C. Groen, A. Collings, Bookkeeper, J. Fox, D. Winland. Seated: M. A. Davison.

SCHOOL STAFF

J. Kleiner, N. Childress, J. Mahoney, L. Wodetzki.

ART STAFF

Standing: I. Hafner, K. Williams, M. Stuebe. Seated: B. Sullenberger, N. Ostenburg.

It was the job of the photographers to take the pictures that appear in the Medley and because of the lack of experience this was one of the hardest jobs.

The school and organizations staffs headed by Betty Ross and Betty King, respectively, had the job of seeing to it that the individual pictures and the activity section were in order and that all names were correct.

Sketches for division pages were provided by the art staff, and long hours were put in on this.

It is through the combined efforts of all these staffs that the Medley has come to you in its present form.

The staff of 1954 wishes to thank its advisers and all others who helped in making the Medley a success.

ORGANIZATIONS STAFF

Standing: J. Williamson, H. Clark, F. Estes. Seated: M. Swaim, A. Hodgson, M. Bevan.

Standing: B. Mortimer, C. Pace, S. McGrath, J. Miller, S. Porcheddu. Seated: S. Seidel, D. Ford.

Maroon

Under the direction of its two advisers, Miss Katherine Stapp and Miss Esther Cowan, the Maroon and White continued its role as an essential part of the high school life of almost all DHS students.

The paper, which was delivered during homeroom period on Friday mornings, was written essentially to keep everyone informed of life here at DHS. It also, however, brought amusement and good influence through its many features and editorials.

This year the editorial staff was organized a little differently, with an editor chosen to be responsible for the material on each page. Heading the entire staff was Tom Oreskovich as Editor-in-Chief and Sam Hurley as Assistant Editor, with Bob Kolb, Judy King, Tom Kelsheimer, and Jim Vrentas each having the responsibility of one page.

Mondays when the paper went to press the activity around the special Maroon and White corner assured us all that we would soon know all the news of DHS.

Standing: T. Cummings, L. Gahan, J. Haskell, R. Crang. Seated: N. Katz, R. Hafner, J. Korngiebel, A. Schafer.

and White

The business staff has a never-ending job in keeping the financial end up. Collecting subscriptions and selling and laying out ads alone are enough to keep them busy.

Bob Hible headed the business section this year as Business Manager. Working with him were Alice Pate in charge of advertising and Phil Hicks in charge of circulation. Friday morning the members of homeroom 341 were all very busy as each received his quota of papers to deliver.

Working with the special income group of the Business Staff was Pat Hurley, whose special job was ordering Senior name cards. Cokes were also sold by this staff at the basketball games. Another service which the business staff performed was the compiling of a student directory which was given as a bonus for prompt payment for the paper. We were all grateful to them for this.

The International Quill and Scroll has awarded the Maroon and White honor rating for several years and the National Scholastic Press Association has ranked it in the First Class Group.

BUSINESS STAFF

Standing: D. Foster, P. Henry, C. Noble, S. Pichon, S. Corcoran. Seated: S. Leichtman, P. Storey.

Standing: L. Redding, D. Brown, N. Stufflebeam, W. Smith, J. Trimble. Seated: E. Milhon, J. Williamson.

Cub Staff

R. Paras, J. Palmer, J. Wallace, J. Deck, J. Cunningham, D. Burow, J. Laker, W. Yovaish D. Wilson.

Potential journalists could be seen gathered in room 302 each morning during homeroom. Under the instruction of Miss Helen Conover, the Cubs became adept in all stages of producing a newspaper. They were taught to lay out a paper, to write heads, news stories, and features, and to proofread.

Later in the year, the Cubs put what they had learned to use. They published two issues of the paper. Jane Palmer was named editor-in-chief, and Julia Laker was co-editor. Other editors were news, Linda Johnson and Rose Paras; sports, John Deck and Bob Burow; make-up, Helen Elgin and Carol Stickler; photographers, Jim Cunningham and Ivan Read; artist, Wally Yovaish; ad lay-outs, Elsie Walker, Bob Burow, Jackie Mervis; and copy and proofreaders, Nita Timmons and Carol Henderson.

Every Friday morning bits of news that had been gathered through the week were turned in to Miss Helen Conover and then under her direction were written as articles to be sent to the main staff in case space needed filling or some news had been missed by their reporters.

Whenever a vacancy arose on the Maroon and White staff the Cub who had put forth the most effort was given the opportunity to advance. Cub Staffers worked hard with an eye to the future and the time when they would be members of one of the major publications.

Standing: C. Stickler, J. Hearnley, R. Gillum, J. Mervis, C. Henderson. Seated: J. Deck, J. Kay, B. Burow, B. Farmer, H. Elgin, B. Hammer, E. Walker, J. Timmons.

Standing: J. Laker, M. Bernard, D. Wilson, W. Yovaish, J. Cunningham, I. Read, S. King, J. Roberts, J. Wallace. Seated: J. Palmer.

Standing: B. Kolb, J. Rindt, R. Paras, T. Waltzer. Seated: P. Zeppelin, Miss Roach, S. Myers.

International Club

One requirement was made of students who wished to become members of International Club, and that was that they were enrolled in some foreign language class at the high school.

Meetings were held the second Monday of each month in the Little Theatre. Talks by visitors from foreign lands, a discussion of pictures by foreign artists, and panel discussions featured some of the meetings. At the annual Christmas party, customs of other lands were discussed. Gifts were brought by the members to be turned over to the Salvation Army for its work.

The main interest of the club was in developing friendships between American and foreign students.

Pen-pals were acquired and reports were given on letters from these foreign friends and gifts from some of these pen-pals were displayed.

Money for CARE packages was collected in the language classes this year as usual and the packages were designated to be sent to the places they were most needed.

Successfully leading the club, whose adviser was Miss Goldia Roach, was Pat Zeppelin, president. Other officers of the year were Sharon Myers, vice-president; Robert Kolb, secretary; Rose Paras, treasurer; and Joyce Rindt and Terry Waltzer, co-program chairmen.

The club met in the Little Theater.

John Williamson led discussion on party plans.

Student Council

An organization which was composed of presidents of various clubs, publications editors, athletic captains, and the representatives elected by their respective classes, Student Council gave the student body a voice in the activities of DHS. The council planned many assemblies and sponsored parties and projects. It met on Thursdays, sixth hour, in room 246.

In the fall, the council tried a novel method of electing cheerleaders. Try-outs were held and the varsity cheerleaders were selected by the group made up of homeroom representatives and Student Council members. Student Council also sponsored Homecoming. The profits from the dance provided for paid assemblies, and it sent delegates to the State Student Council Convention. Other activities included the Courtesy Campaign, Talent Show, All-School Party, Medley Signing Party, Student-Teacher Panel Discussion and the elections in the spring. Members of the Council had a picnic and hike at Turkey Run in April.

Several groups attended conventions and visited high schools in this area. They went to the State Convention in Chicago, District Convention in Hoopeston, and visited schools in Indiana.

President Joe Fox headed the organization this year, and he was assisted by the following officers: Ted Smith, vice-president; Carol Bahls, secretary; and Bill Stott, treasurer. Miss Helen Thompson was adviser for the Council.

Girls' Club

"The purpose of the Danville High School Girls' Student Club is to create, maintain, and extend ideals of friendship, social service, loyalty and patriotism; to discuss subjects of interest and helpfulness to girls; and to instill in the heart of each one a constant desire to gain and pass along the best things in life." With this purpose and the theme, "Trails to Friendship," in mind, Girls' Club entered its 51st year, planning meetings of interest to all members. These meetings included talent shows, beauty discussions, slides on Europe, and fashion show. Mrs. Frances Meeks, founder of the club, was present at several meetings.

Some of the club's activities included selling football programs and refreshments at basketball games. During the Christmas season, a group of girls entertained patients at nursing homes in the Danville area. Also, Girls' Club presented its annual award to the Best Girl Citizen.

Janet Korngiebel was president for '53-'54. Other officers were Mary Ann Leisch, vice-president; Phyllis Prast, secretary; Carol Bahls, treasurer; and Marilyn Mackin, pianist. Head adviser was Mrs. Harriet Rewerts, who was assisted by other faculty members in the different departments of the club.

Dramatic Club

Dramatic Club, one of the few DHS clubs whose membership was placed on a competitive basis, was one of the largest school organizations. Membership was based on try-outs held before a committee of faculty judges in the fall and new members were introduced at the first meeting.

Each member of the club had a chance to perform at least once a year as one-act plays under student directors were presented at the meetings. In addition, the Dramatic Club play was given in February. This year a three-act comedy, "Stag Line," was given.

In the way of social events the club's outstanding project was the annual alumni Christmas banquet, at which time some of the returning alumni furnished entertainment.

Most of the credit for the success of the club was due to the work of their adviser, Miss Mary Miller, and their officers, president, Mari Anne Davison; vice-president, Richard Castle; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Divan; play critic, Janet Korngiebel; and play manager, Fred Mauck.

Wranglers Club

Any student in high school who was interested in public speaking and debating was given a chance to express himself at Wranglers Club. This club, the second oldest in DHS, was originally founded in 1911.

This year, in observance of Thanksgiving, the club planned and presented the annual assembly. The program consisted of skits, readings, and songs. This assembly helped DHS students view more clearly their reasons for being thankful.

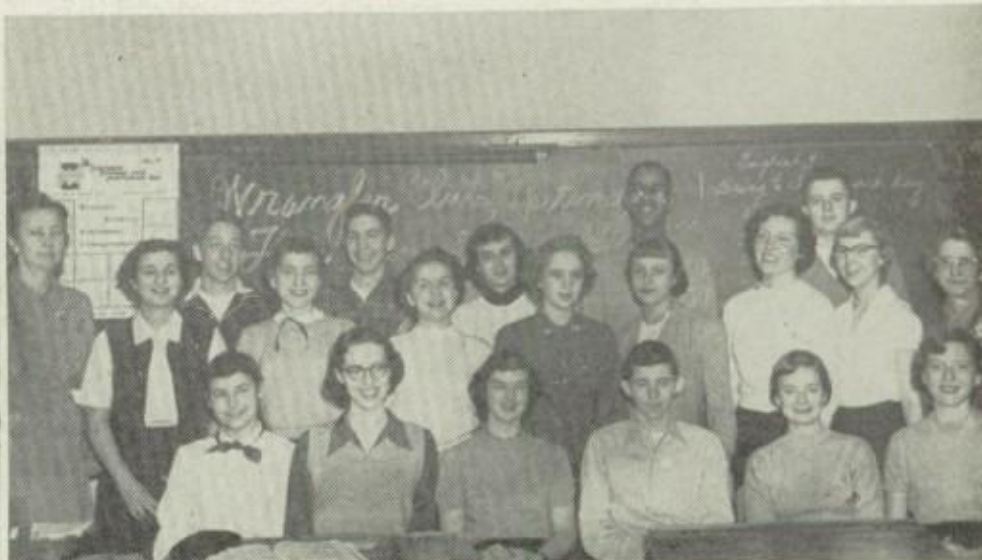

One of the most interesting meetings was the one based on a Hawaiian theme. Miss Ruth Sandeson, head of the Social Science department, who had recently visited Hawaii, was guest speaker. Student speakers discussed the progress over 100 years, Hawaiian music, and the pro's and con's concerning statehood.

A special homeroom was for members of Speakers Bureau. This part of the club was open to any Wrangler who had given two speeches and was approved by faculty judges. During homeroom the orators learned and practiced their speaking abilities.

Richard Castle headed the club as president. He was assisted by vice-president, Sharon Myers; secretary-treasurer, Marilyn Mackin; membership chairman, Pat Rhode; program chairman, Tom Hawkins; and social chairman, Connie Sutton. Nancy Freese was president of Speakers Bureau. Mrs. Grace Sprouls and Miss Ruth Sandeson were co-advisers of the club.

Worth While Writers

Standing: P. Prast, K. Gugin, J. Kleiner, M. Gogerty. Seated: J. King, Miss Boyer, M. Bernard, Pres., J. Rindt.

All phases of writing were discussed at Worth While Writers' Club meeting. The purpose of the club was to develop creative skills and a better appreciation of prose and poetry. This club is open to anyone interested in writing, and one original writing had to be submitted for membership. Regular members handed in their writings throughout the year. These writings were read by the critic, who kept track of all writings, corrected, and some were published in the Maroon and White. Other writings were read at meetings.

President Mary Bernard led the club through its successful year. Highlights of the year included a Valentine party, when everyone made an original valentine; a movie on the fundamentals of writing; talks on how to write; a spring picnic; and a radio program on which members read their writings.

Mary was assisted by the following officers: Joanna Kleiner, vice-president; Marilyn Gogerty, secretary, and Joyce Rindt, treasurer. Phyllis Prast served as literary critic, and Cabinet chairmen included Judy King, program chairman; Kathryn Gugin, membership. Miss Boyer was adviser.

Home Economics Club

Standing: Mary Ann Smith, Miss Smoot, Arminda Chambers, Charlotte Ferland, Linda Bishop, Mrs. Fliermans, Sue Tevebaugh. Seated: Ann Chandler, Virginia Eastman, Pres.

Home Economics Club is composed of girls interested in that field. At meetings, held on the second Thursday of each month, student demonstrations, guest speakers, movies, and group discussions made up the programs.

Social activities were certainly not lacking. A swimming party, a tour of Producers Dairy, a spring picnic, and a hamburger fry constituted the majority of them. The highlight of the year, however, was a style show and tea at which time the girls modeled some of the pretty clothes they had made through the year.

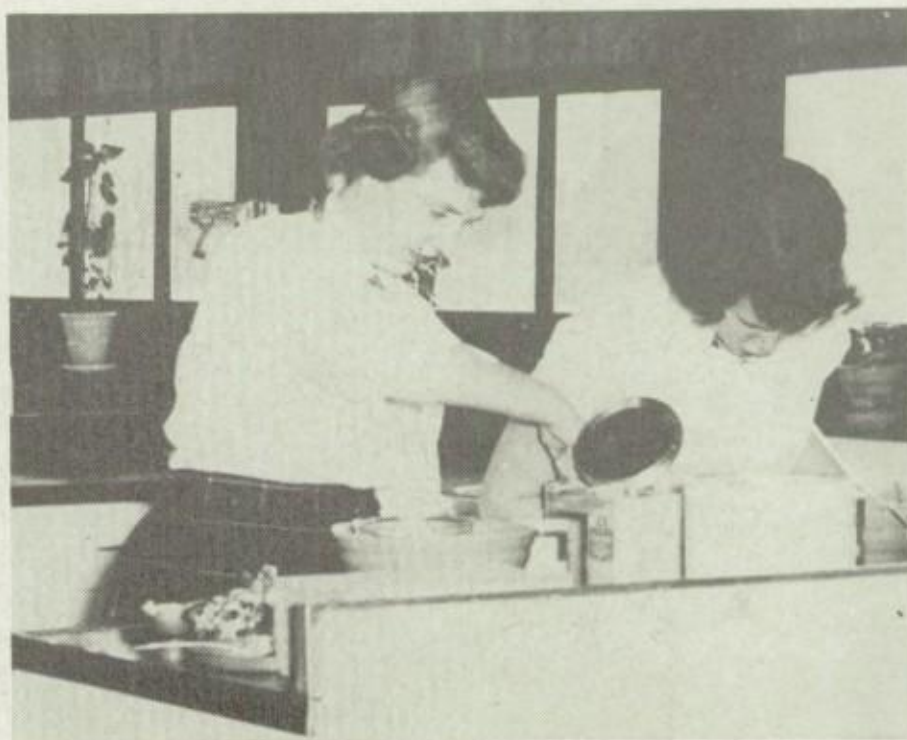

Virginia Eastman was president for the year and she was assisted by officers: Ann Chandler, vice-president; Charlotte Ferland, secretary-treasurer; Mary Ann Smith, publicity chairman; Judy Farley, social chairman; Sue Tevebaugh, program chairman; Pat Andre, parliamentarian, and Linda Bishop, membership chairman.

The success of the club can be contributed in some part to the wise council given these girls by their advisors.

Art Club

Standing: Irene Hafner, Miss Sullenberger. Seated: Nancy Ostenburg, Pres., Jackie Roberts, Mary Pichon.

Field trips to interesting places in Danville and were the highlights of '53-54 season. Trips included a visit to Sandusky's Furniture Store. Another interesting meeting was presented by Bess Fullerton, who gave a demonstration on making handicrafts, including jewelry. At these regular meetings on every third Tuesday, discussions on different phases of art were held. Art Club membership was open to any student in DHS interested in art.

Art Club was also active in activities around DHS. All of the programs for the Homecoming Dance were made by art-clubbers. During the Christmas Season, members made the Christmas display in the north hall, including the papier mache figures under the tree. Art Club was also in charge of the distribution of tickets for the All-School Party.

Under Miss Betty Sullenberger as adviser, the following officers headed the club: Nancy Ostenburg, president; Mary Ann Pichon, vice-president; Jackie Roberts, secretary, and Irene Hafner, treasurer.

Science Club

"What are flying saucers?" The answer to this, and other such questions, was discussed at meetings of Science Club. Student demonstrations and films added variety to the meetings.

Science Club held meetings the first and third Thursdays of every month. The purpose of the club was to promote an interest in science, to promote the aims of science, and to study the uses of science in everyday life.

Led by President Richard Crang, this club participated in many educational activities. Members made several field trips. These trips included an exploration of the DHS tunnels and visits to the Danville City Waterworks, the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago, and to the University of Illinois Engineering Open House. Other activities included an annual Christmas party, and the presentation of a radio program as a part of the regular Radio Staff broadcasts.

Other officers for the year included vice-president, Alan Huffer; secretary-treasurer, Evelyn Delattre; reporter, Bob Laury. The club was advised by Mr. Harold Seip and Mr. C. O. Johnson.

Hi-Y

Standing: Mr. Seip, Wayne Mingee, Pres., Mr. Murphy. Seated: Bill Cornwell, Norman Katz, Dave Brown, Roger McMillan.

President Wayne Mingee led the Hi-Y members this year. Their meetings, held the first and third Wednesdays at the YMCA were open to any boy in high school. Guest speakers included the high school coaches, John Eckert from WDAN and Jake Higgins from WITY.

Other activities included the sponsoring of dances after the games and the "Sweetheart Supper." Mr. Doug Monahan, State Boys' Work Secretary, told about his trip to Europe and his experiences.

Two representatives from the club were sent to the Youth and Government Program at Springfield where Carl Esslinger served as the Chaplain of the Senate. He was elected at a meeting in Champaign which several of the boys attended. The officers also took part in the Hi-Y Tri-Y Clinic at the Decatur YWCA.

An annual spring picnic at which the new officers were elected closed the year's activities. Serving with the president this year were Norman Katz, vice-president; R. David Brown, secretary; Bill Cornwell, treasurer; Roger McMillan, chaplain, and Mr. Harold Seip and Mr. Glen Murphy, advisers.

An unusual variety of programs was presented to Y-Teens this year as the members enjoyed and participated in religious programs, a chili-swim party, Mothers' tea, and a birthday party for all Y-Teens.

Affiliated with the Y.W.C.A., the club participated in many social service projects, visiting the Children's Home, Vermilion County Nursing Home, and The Tuberculosis Sanitarium. Y-Teens also sent delegates to the summer conference at Bradley University in Peoria, Illinois. Last summer, Harriet Burgheim, Joanna Kleiner, Phyllis Prast, and Marjorie Vestal were representatives.

This year's officers were Joanna Kleiner, president; Janet Korngiebel, vice-president; Judy Dill, secretary, and Phyllis Prast, treasurer. Advisers were Miss Helen Thompson and Miss Ruth Smoot of Danville High School, and Miss Marilyn White of the Y.W.C.A.

Every first and third Wednesday the Phyllis Wheatley Y-Teens met either in room 244 at DHS for their business meetings or at the Y for a program. These programs were planned to interest any Y-Teen. Panel discussions and qualified speakers were featured at these bi-monthly meetings.

One of the main projects of the year was that of selling salt-water taffy. Miss Kathryn Watts' room was headquarters for this project. The taffy was sold to DHS students and faculty.

Three members were sent to the Illinois State

Y-Teen Conference at Bradley University in Peoria. This conference was held the last week in August. Minerva Carter, Benita Chambers, and Louise Stringfellow attended, participating in all conference activities. They brought home many new ideas for their own club.

The officers were Minerva Carter, president; Benita Chambers, vice-president, and Frances Buford, secretary-treasurer. Two DHS faculty members, Miss Donna Stuebe and Miss Kathryn Watts served as advisers.

Projectors Club

Standing: Dave Clendenen, Edwin Meyer. Seated: Larry Punko, Howard Carithers, Pres., Phil Ribbe.

Projectors Club, organized as a part of the Danville Audio-Visual Department six years ago, has rapidly become an important part of life around DHS. The club was responsible for the showing of all movies used in class work and also took charge of movies at the All-School Party.

It was only necessary for members, all boys who were trained in the use of projectors, to operate in one class period a week. A schedule was kept in club adviser Miss Grace Brandenberger's office and the boys checked with her on the schedule to see when they were to be operator.

The club with a membership of 56 had its own homeroom for the first time and Miss Helen Wolff and Mr. Bennett served as homeroom advisers.

Howard Carithers served as president of the club this year and his fellow officers were: vice-president, Phil Ribbe; secretary, Ed Meyer, and treasurer, Dave Clendenen.

Future Teachers of America

Members of FTA were either juniors or seniors who were interested in the teaching profession. Any student who was taking the Introduction to Teaching course was automatically a member. Meetings were held during class the first semester and once a month the second semester.

At these meetings members discussed topics pertaining to teaching, such as problems of teaching, disadvantages, advantages, requirements, and qualifications. Students also discussed situations they encountered while practice teaching.

The one-semester course was divided into three periods. The first six weeks the class read books, listened to speeches, and saw movies on teaching. The second period it visited grade schools throughout the city and studied the individual child. The third period each student taught in a grade school under the supervision of an experienced teacher.

At one meeting, a speaker from Eastern Illinois State College spoke on the teaching profession. Former members of FTA gave their opinions of their choice. The class also presented speeches at Hoopeston High school for a vocational program. Another activity was being co-sponsor of the Homecoming parade.

The officers for '53-54 were Arlene Hodgson, president; Jean Wade, vice-president; Dan Winland, secretary; Betty King, treasurer, and Mari Anne Davison, social chairman. Miss Katherine Stapp, teacher of the class, was adviser of the club.

Future Distributors of America

Trips to various industries and businesses in Danville and Chicago offered valuable education and experience for FDA members. The highlights of the Chicago trip included the Merchandise Mart, Federal Reserve Bank, Museum of Science and Industry, Chicago Stock Exchange, and Kroger Bakery. The Danville visits included Paxton's Warehouse, Consolidated Products, City Hall, First National Bank, and Florsheim Shoe Company.

Other activities included several parties held throughout the year. One outstanding social event was the Bosses' Banquet held at the Boat Club. The club sponsored a skating party and sock hop at the Illini Roller Palace. Six members attended the State FDA Convention at Springfield. The club also sponsored a trip to Washington for Seniors.

FDA consisted of members of the Distributive Education Class. This class, open to any senior interested in entering business, attended school in the morning and worked in the afternoon. These people learned the various aspects of working through Mr. Newton's lessons and personal experience.

The class elected the following officers: Larry Laker, president; Dick Pierce, vice-president; Sharon Griffith, secretary; Carol Beltrone, treasurer, and Patricia Dickson, reporter.

A Cappella

Standing: Bill Cornwell, Kay Taylor, Pat Hurley, Pres., Ted Smith, Pres.,

Joyful songs and music echoed from room G202 during first hour every day. There the A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Miss Pansy Legg and accompanied by Miss Helen Wolff, worked hard to achieve perfection for its various performances. Friendship and sportsmanship were also emphasized throughout the year.

This active group was busy preparing for some event almost every day. Several civic organizations called upon them to present music programs. Work was begun at the beginning of the year for the first major production, Fall Concert. Immediately following this, members began practicing for the Christmas Assembly. Another Yuletide event was caroling in the halls by the music students. After the holidays, it was "back to work" as preparations for the annual Moments Musical started. This year the choir recaptured the spirit of the days of the old west. Next the Big 12 Music Festival was held in Danville, and finally came the graduation exercises.

However, all of the choir's activities weren't work. Parties were held throughout the year, especially after each major production. At the Swing Ding in April, awards were presented for work in music.

Officers for 1953-1954 were the following: Pat Hurley and Ted Smith, presidents; Bill Cornwell and Janice Mahoney, vice-presidents; Kay Taylor, secretary; Mari Anne Davison, treasurer; Carl Noble, monitor, and Margo Lombom, Donna Evans, Jean Sumrall and Lucia Hatton, librarians.

Euterpeans

"Sweet Colleen" was pleasing to all

Just as members of the chorus classes hoped to become part of A Cappella, A Cappella members aspired for Euterpeans. It was quite an honor to achieve this goal. Becoming a member of this select group was difficult, for Euterpeans were chosen on the basis of several qualities. These included voice quality, dependability, and showmanship. The chief activity of this group was the presentation of the first unit of Moments Musical. The more difficult vocal arrangements were done by Euterpeans.

This year, for Moments Musical the eighteen couples danced and sang to the tunes of Irish melodies in "A Spot In Old Ireland." The perfection and harmony were the results of hard work and long practices. Every night after school from early January until late in March, the group rehearsed its complicated routines. Although it was hard work, each member admitted it was worth it.

This group of eighteen couples sang and danced "The Kerry Dance." Next, Fred Mauck sang about "The Tumble Down Shack in Athlone." Patricia Henk flitted through "My Name Is Kelly," as she portrayed the Rinncé Fada Dancer. The entire group combined talents to present "Sweet Colleen." Soloist Jack Drews asked "How Are Things in Glocca Morra?"; Elaine Milhon and John Miller joined together in singing "The Donovans." Finally, the curtain closed on the 1954 group of Euterpeans.

This group was under the direction of Miss Pansy Legg and was accompanied by Miss Helen Wolff.

Band

Few high school presentations could be complete without the music of the DHS band. This group's tricky formations and nimble majorettes entertained spectators during the football season; it played peppy numbers at half-time for the basketball season; short, lively numbers highlighted the many pep assemblies. In this way, the band backed the sports activities. This musical group was invaluable to the morale and pep of DHS, and it deserved much credit.

Senior band also participated in two major productions at DHS. In the fall, the boys donned dress suits and the girls formals, and the band presented a wide variety of numbers for Fall Concert. Later in the spring, the band again cooperated with the vocal department in the presentation of Moments Musical. The band was responsible for the second unit of the show. "Music a la Carte" included all different types of music, from classical selections to comedy numbers.

Orchestra

Another instrumental group of the music department was the DHS Orchestra which met third hour every day. The orchestra attempted to acquaint its members with classical music, but at times it would swing into lively popular tunes.

The orchestra presented its annual Christmas assembly, instilling the Yuletide spirit in DHS. "Charity" was the subject of the assembly, and Salvation Army girls with their bells were in evidence around the outdoor setting.

The orchestra appeared before the public in Fall Concert and Moments Musical. It combined with the band in several numbers and also presented some of its own interpretations. Long practices and hard work were necessary to achieve the satisfactory results.

and in Chicago. The orchestra served as host to the Big 12 Orchestra during the April meeting.

The orchestra's exclusive organization, the Metronome Club, consisted of the following officers: Sharlene Rice, president; Karen Brandenberger, vice-president, and Rosemary Dodson, secretary-treasurer. Board members were: Jim Weaver, Joyce Rindt, Alice Leisch, and Carol Park. Mr. Holl directed all activities.

Many students offered valuable services to their school. These students voluntarily gave up one study hall each day to perform any one of several duties. They served as monitors, office assistants, or switchboard operators. To qualify as any one of these, the students had to have an average of at least "C" in all subjects.

The monitors directed the traffic in the halls during the lunch hours. It was their duty to keep students out of certain parts of the building where classes were in progress, and to prevent students from eating food outside the cafeteria.

Office assistants worked in the offices of the dean of girls, dean of boys, and Mr. Bates. These assistants typed, collected attendance slips, delivered notices, filed, and performed other office duties.

Switchboard operators operated the switchboard in the main office. Miss Helen Thompson, Dean of Girls, directed the work of these students.

Any student who rendered services to the library was eligible for membership in the Library Club. These helpers assisted the librarians, Miss Charlene Galloway and Miss Vera Watts, by performing such duties as putting away books, mending books, filing cards, and checking books in and out.

Led by President Nelljane Fox, this club was very active. In the fall a party was given for all new assistants. Decorating the library Christmas tree was an activity of that season. In the spring the club held its annual picnic. Another annual event was the Senior Breakfast for any senior receiving library honors. Regular meetings were held every two weeks during homeroom.

This year the club actively participated in the Student Librarians of East Central Illinois Association made up of 12 schools of Eastern Illinois. Nelljane Fox was vice-president of this organization. During the spring semester, a group from Danville attended a meeting at Kankakee. For the first time, pins were available this year for any student who had worked at least one semester.

Officers for '53-'54 were Nelljane Fox, president; Helen Clark, vice-president; Shirley Gardner, secretary, and Patricia Kiser, treasurer. The librarians served as advisers.

Student conducted broadcasts were presented from the Little Theater in DHS. These programs were heard each Friday from 3:45 to 4:00 over radio station WDAN. Prepared by members of the radio staff, the programs told stories of the daily happenings throughout DHS. Highlights included programs presented by various clubs and extra-curricular activities.

Members of the radio staff, chosen for their voice quality, were selected by a faculty judging committee. They were then appointed to various staffs. For every program certain staffs had specific duties to perform. Chairmen of the six staffs were: Fred Mauck, announcer; Sylvia Seidel, general news; Bill Mortimer, sports; Virginia Divan, publicity; Richard Goodner, maintenance; and Marta Parker and Joan Shouse, special features. Every student hoped for the day he would be on the stage to receive special recognition. In the spring Danville High School honored those Seniors who had been active in organizations and helpful around the school. Honors were presented for outstanding scholastic records, extra-curricular activities, and service.

The highest honor was that of becoming a member of Honor Society. Other scholastic awards were given in English, Latin, commercial, science, social science, and math. Activity awards were presented in journalism, dramatics, speech, and sportsmanship. Service awards were made for work in library, office, and monitor duty.

Athletics build good sportsmanship • • •

The two types of sports which have long been carried on at D.H.S. are team sports and individual sports. Team sports, such as basketball and football, are very valuable because they give each member a chance to play the part for which he is best suited, thus making the team stronger. In individual sports, such as swimming and tennis, a player who has the desire and takes the initiative, can travel a long way by himself.

Both types have one thing in common; they encourage good sportsmanship. Through the years of school sports, the player who has learned how to lose as well as how to win has gained the most from athletics.

Varsity Football

The football Maroons, in their second season under coaches Ray Grierson and Don Pittman, started out on the right foot with an impressive 13 to 6 win over a heavier Crane Tech team.

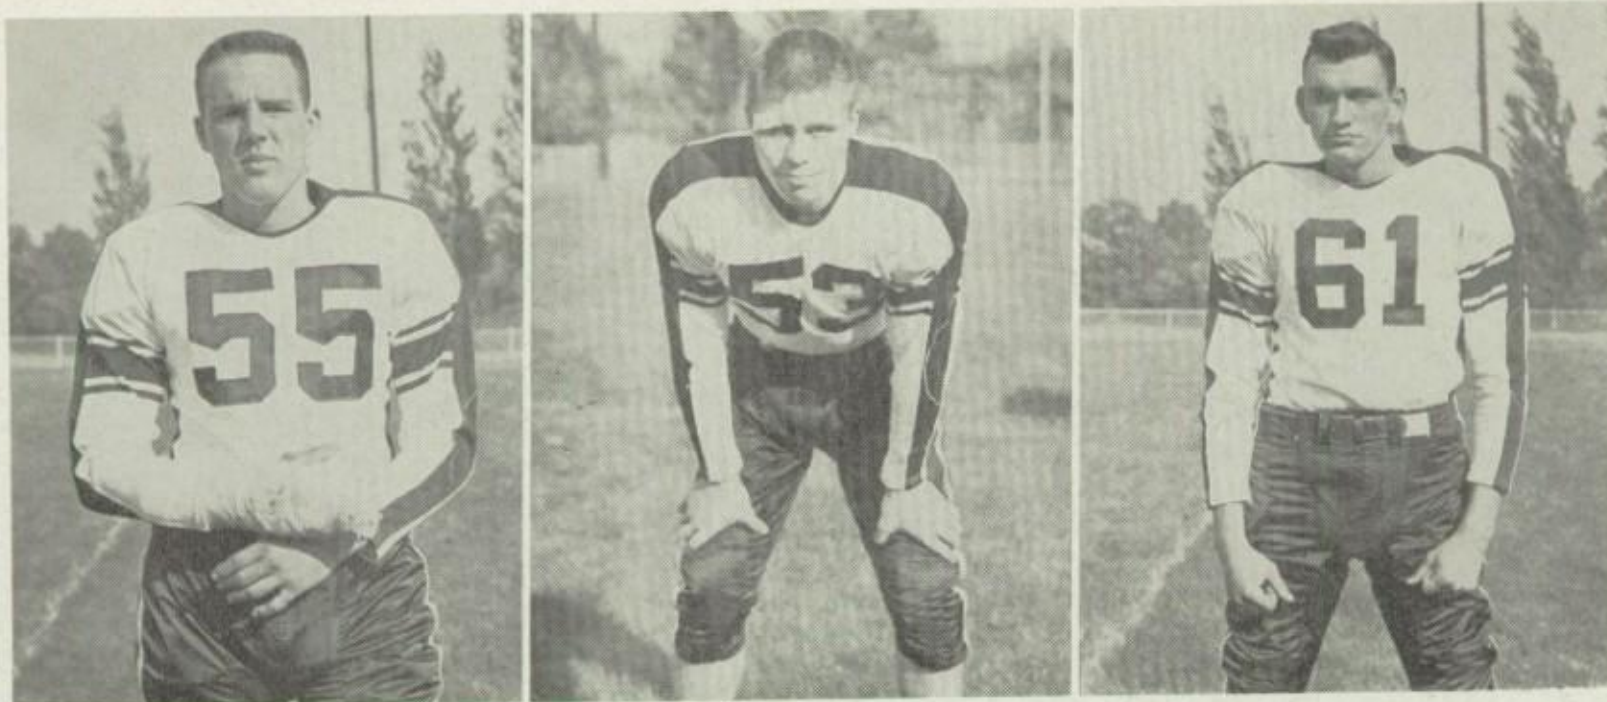

Continuing in high style, they upset the highly rated Kankakee team 6 to 0 on home ground. Taking to the road for the first time and for their first "Big 12" game the Maroons next met Urbana and their first defeat 26 to 19.

A highly polished Thornton team gave the grid-men their worst beating of the year. Next came the homecoming game with Champaign in which Danville led for three quarters until a lucky pass tied the game 13 to 13, as it ended.

Back on the road again, the Maroons journeyed to Clinton, Indiana, where the two teams battled in freezing weather to a 13 to 13 tie. The last game of the season was played in the spacious Pekin stadium.

The coaches and Jerry discussed tactics

J. McBride, Captain; K. Bostwick, Most Valuable Player; R. Wurtsbaugh, Captain-elect.

After leading for most of the game, the gridmen saw the highly rated Chinks tie the game on a desperation play in the last few minutes.

The team missed the play of its captain Jerry McBride for a number of games as he was sidelined by a broken arm. Kenny Bostwick was selected as most valuable player.

Taking all into consideration, the Maroons had a fairly good season ending with 3 wins, 3 losses, and 3 ties and looked forward to next year with many veterans returning under the leadership of Ray Wurtsbaugh who was chosen to captain the '55 team.

Reserve Football

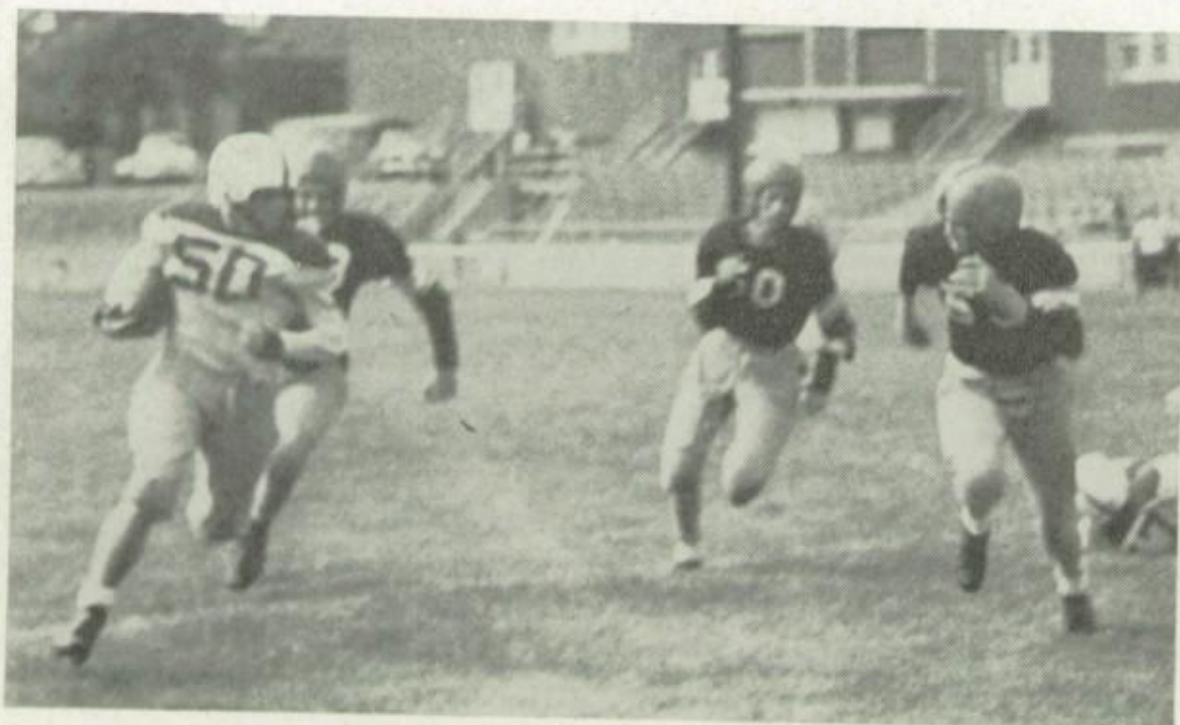

The vision of someday becoming members of the varsity football team propelled the junior gridmen on to an undefeated season. This team of hardworking freshmen and sophomores was scored upon only twice and was tied twice. The success of the season is a good omen for continued good luck on the varsity squad.

The first games with Urbana and Champaign, both ended with a score of 0-0. The team scored two touchdowns to defeat Catlin, 13-6. Games against Oakwood and Georgetown were decided victories. The team collected 31 points against Oakwood's 0, and 26 against Georgetown's 0. The final game against Westville again saw the Maroons victorious 13-7.

This reserve team deserves praise for its successful season. It was coached by Mr. Arnold Ave and Mr. Joe Ward.

Cross Country

A successful season was completed by this year's Cross Country team. DHS harriers finished first in four out of six dual meets and one triangular meet at Champaign. The team also placed third in the Big 12 conference meet at Urbana and fourth in the ISHA District meet, also at Urbana.

The harriers faced teams from Bismarck, Urbana, Paris, and Champaign. All of these teams except Urbana fell before the Maroons.

Through the fall of the year the boys could be seen until late in the evening practicing on the DHS track, thus the reason for their success.

Captain Frank Marana led the team and Marvin Blanton was elected most valuable. The DHS Cross Country team, coached by Mr. Charles Ross, elected John Miller captain of next year's team.

Varsity

Undefeated on its home floor, the DHS varsity team surprised its fans. Having only one returning letterman, Frank Estes, it was not expected to complete the season with a total of 14 wins and only 6 losses. After leading the Big 12 race throughout the season, the DHS Maroons shared a four-way tie for first place with Decatur, Peoria Central, and Lincoln.

DHS basketball fans witnessed many close, exciting games. Two games, with Central and Manual of Peoria, saw the Maroons come through with only one point victories. Another close game was the one with Hoopeston, Danville finishing on top 46-44. All the close games did not have such a pleasant outcome because Bradley and Pekin maintained two point leads to give them wins over Danville. Champaign, the DHS arch-rivals, got revenge for the first game of the year which saw Danville the winners when they met the DHS Maroons the second time as they slipped by them 73-65. The only other teams to leave Danville behind were Urbana, Kankakee, and Paris.

The Pontiac Christmas Tournament saw Danville finish with three wins, finally being defeated by New Trier. This gave DHS fourth place in that tournament. For the first time since 1951 Danville came out on top in the Regional tournament at Danville. St. Joseph, Georgetown, and Westville fell to the Maroons, giving them the ticket to the Sectional at Champaign. Rantoul and Hoopeston succumbed to the powerful DHS team and Danville entered the Sweet Sixteen for the first time in three years. In the first game of the state tournament Danville bowed out to the eventual Sweet Sixteen champion, Mount Vernon with a score of 54-61. This close game climaxed a successful season for a team which exhibited good sportsmanship and co-operation.

The player who was chosen as the most valuable was Captain Frank Estes. Estes was high scorer for the DHS team, second-high scorer in the Big 12, and he broke a school record set by Ron Rigoni in 1951. The team elected guard Billy McMains to captain the '54-'55 squad. Coach Art Mathisen directed the team through the surprising campaign.

Besides the regular Varsity Basketball Squad, there were three other groups of energetic basketball enthusiasts. They were the Junior Varsity, Freshman team, and the Intramural squad.

The most active of these was the Junior Varsity Squad, whose regular schedule was the same as the regular Maroons. This squad played just before all regularly scheduled games. These boys ran into some hard luck as they lost six games by four or less points. They completed the season with seven wins. The ambition of the junior varsity players was to progress to the regular varsity squad. The team was coached by Mr. Ray Grierson.

the Freshman team played against smaller schools of this area and frosh teams from the larger schools. These future DHS stars received much valuable training through experience and practice. They were coached by Mr. Glen Robertson.

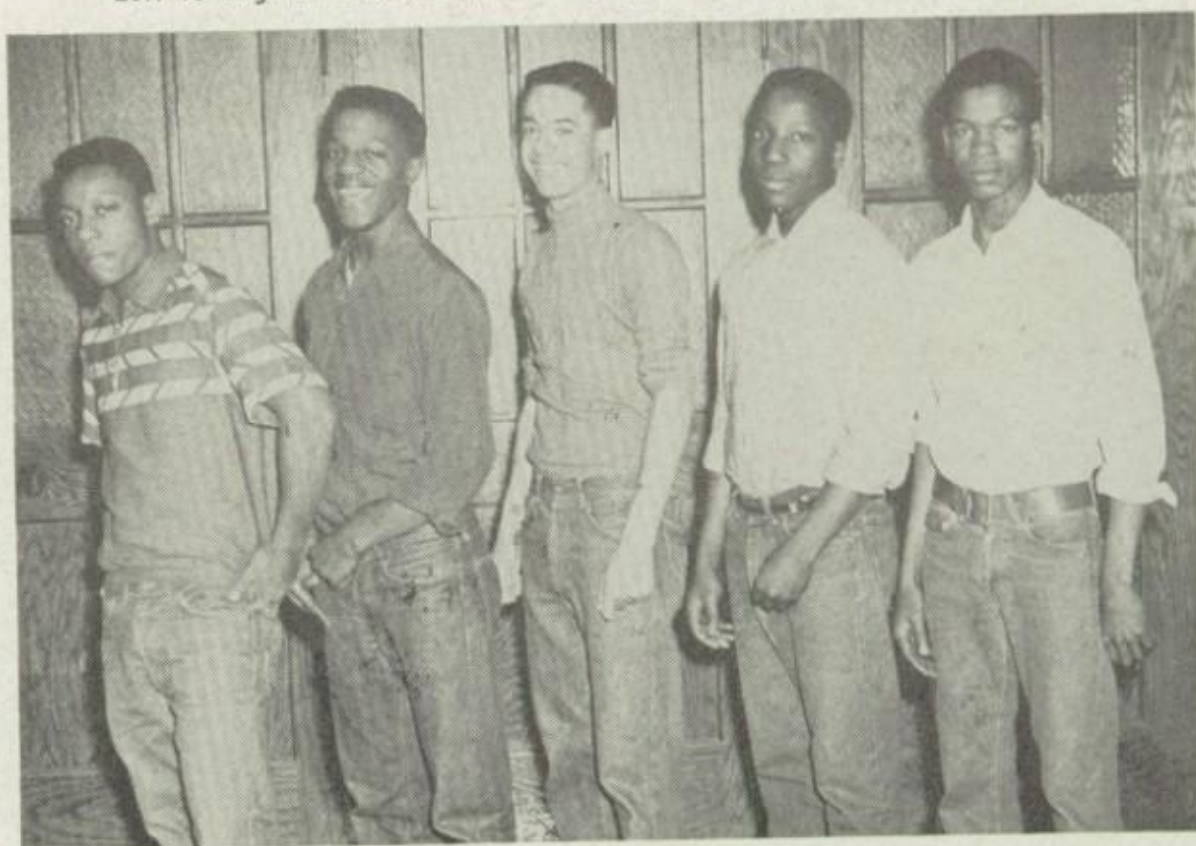

The Intramural basketball squads are composed of boys who do not get on the regular teams but who still want to play the sport competitively. Mr. Bill Christy coached the teams, which practiced in the Girls' Gym. The league, composed of six teams, played its games on Wednesday nights.

The Intramural Championship this year was taken by the Illini with a fourteen won and one loss record. Ozell Langley was high scorer for the year.

wins over the Danville squad, but Urbana was the only team to defeat the matmen twice.

Three boys qualified in the sectional at Champaign to go to the state meet. These successful grapplers were Larry Punko at 95, Jay Meitzler at 138, and Danny Winland at 120. They joureyed to Defeated only by the eventual Big 12 champions, Peoria Central, this year's swimming team can well be proud of its record. It handed Bloomington one of its worst defeats with a score of 62-13. Both Urbana and Bloomington fell to the Maroons twice, and Calumet City was the other unvictorious foe.

The graduating seniors of this year's squad will be missed next year. John Williamson, breaststroke;

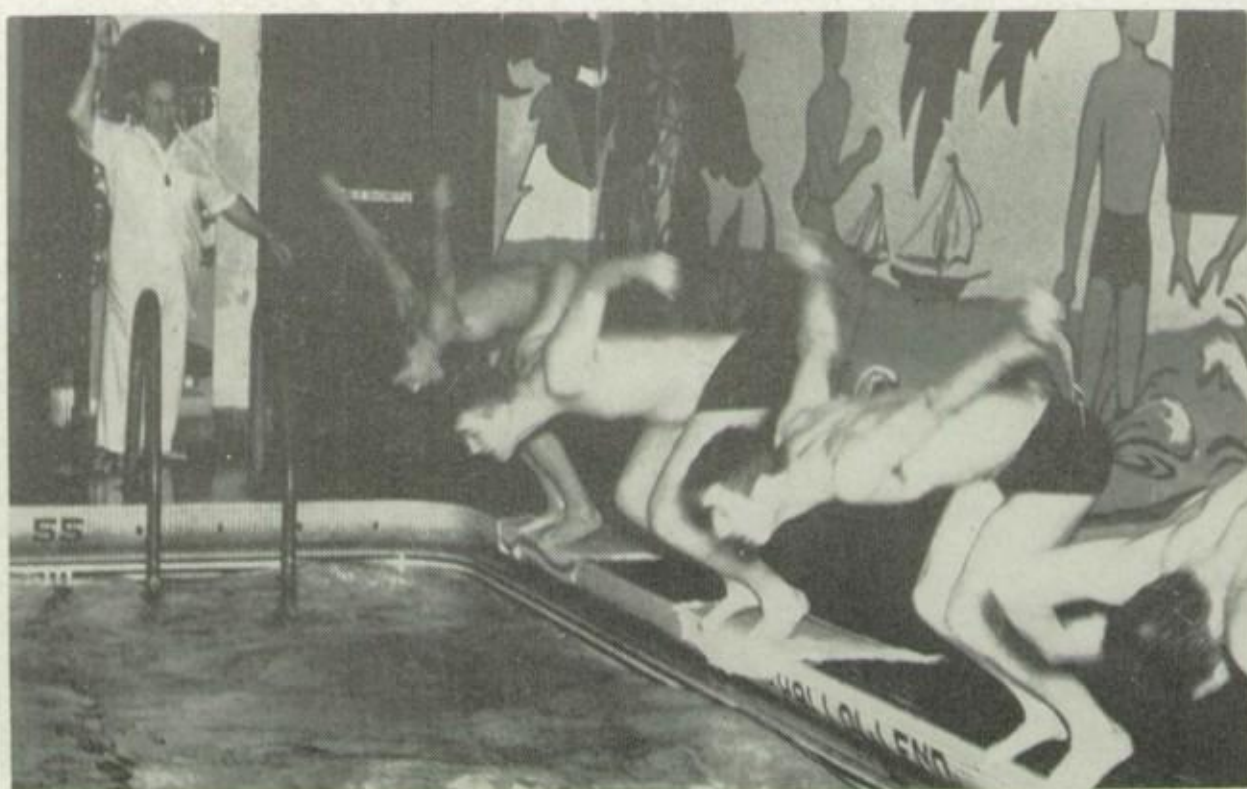

Gene Hall, backstroke; Larry Allen, free style, and Nat Smith, diving, contributed to many wins. Larry Stultz captured an unexpected second place in the Big 12 40-yard free style. Another senior, who played an important part in the free style relay, was Don Lind.

David Moore, Jim West, Allen Voigt, Wesley Walker. The new record, 19:50.6, replaced the old one set in 1952.

In the Big 12 meet, the team captured third place. The 880 varsity team of Ken Rockstroh, Bobby Jackson, Dave Field, and Wilbur Rhodes won first, setting a new school record of 1:33.9. The Big 12

Undefeated in regular season meets since May of 1948, the DHS tennis squad has held the best record of any of the sports teams. Last year's racketmen won the district and placed fourth in State. The team placed second in the Big 12 meet and Captain Carl "Jug" Noble went undefeated to the Big 12 singles title.

The team was composed of boys who have been members of the squad since their Freshmen year. All of these boys returned for play this year.

Captain-elect Jay Meitzler and Coach Glen Robertson had high hopes for a successful season with all of these experienced men on hand.

Danville placed fourth in the District meet and was led by Captain Bob Defebaugh who turned in an 84. Danville placed seventh in the Big 12 meet which, unlike basketball or other team sports, is determined by one meet and not by the wins and losses over the season.

Coach Mathisen and Captain-elect Joe Fox looked forward to a very successful season as they had 7 of the first 8 men returning, losing only Buddy Wright.

Baseball

Winners and still champs, that was coach Bill Christy's baseball team. Led by Captain Leonard "Abe" Lenfesty, the team brought home another "Big 12" championship. They were defeated in the district, however, by Champaign whom they had beaten twice in regular season play, and ended their schedule with 12 wins and 5 losses.

In other scheduled games they won two double headers against Springfield and Mattoon, lost one to Lafayette, and split one with Gerstmeyer of Terre Haute.

The fine pitching staff was one of the main cogs in winning so many games. Jim Tapp, John Stevenson, Jack O'Connor, and Ken Bostwick were the stars this field. John Stevenson in his first appearance, pitched a no-hit game and the others turned in many fine performances.

There were outstanding plays in many of the games, too numerous to all be mentioned. Many fine catches and several double plays were enacted, and in one game Frank Estes hit the first pitch of the game for a home run.

This year's team, led by Captain Bill Stott, missed the play of seniors Captain "Abe" Lenfesty, Bob Muirhead, Dick Gunn, Tom Pitchford, and Jim Tapp.

Coach Christy and Bill looked forward to a good season nevertheless, and had high hopes of another "Big 12" championship.

Managers

Bolser gave first aid as part of his job.

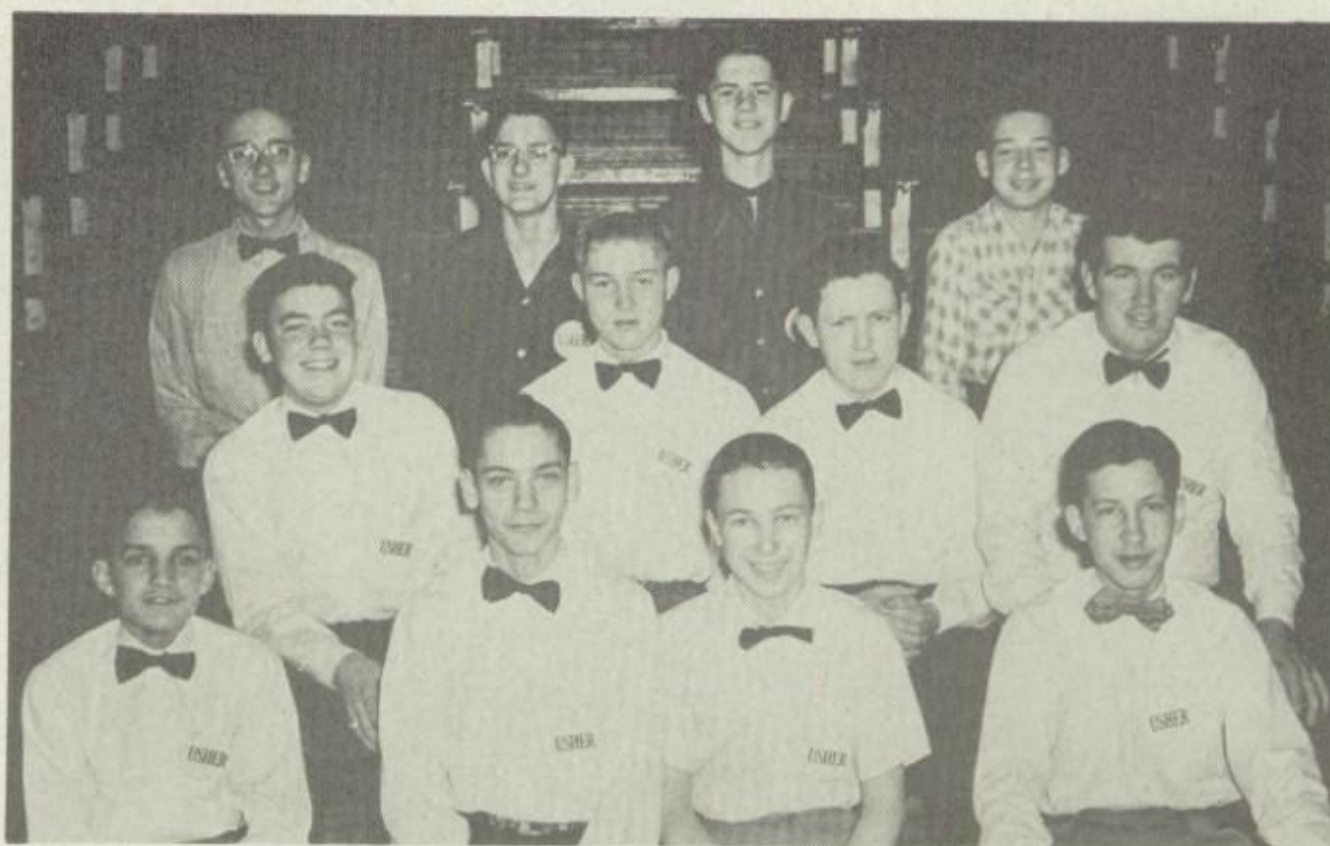

Difficult tasks, which seldom were noticed or praised, were performed by the managers of all sports. These boys worked behind the scenes assisting the teams and coaches. Their work usually began before the teams were organized, and it continued after the season closed.

The jobs which occupied the managers' time varied, and they included distributing sports equipment and uniforms, checking bus schedules, keeping individual records, and performing other odd jobs throughout the season. The teams and coaches were dependent upon the efficiency of the managers, and they were seldom disappointed.

Even though the spectators never realized it, the managers worked just as hard as the teams themselves. They shared their teams' outlooks both before and after the game. The managers had the opportunity to observe teamwork in action. Without co-operation between the teams, coaches and managers, successful seasons would be almost impossible. Hats off to the DHS managers!

Harrassed fans were often in need of the assistance of the "boys in the white shirts and dark ties." These boys, known as the DHS ushers, provided valuable services for all fans at the football and basketball games. They performed such duties as marking off reserved sections during football games, providing information for confused spectators, assisting lost children in finding their parents, controlling the actions of excited fans, and serving as general information bureaus.

These ushers seldom received the credit they deserved, but everyone appreciated their sincere efforts in making football and basketball games more enjoyable. Without the services of the ushers, confusion would probably have reigned. Their friendly smiles were always visible regardless of weather conditions and circumstances.

Their efforts have been unfailing, and now that the year has ended, they are commended for their loyalty and service. Thank you, ushers!

Cheerleaders

A new system of selecting cheerleaders was initiated this year. Members of Student Council and homeroom representatives chose five girls after two try-outs. These girls, Ruth Blue, Odette Andre, Pat Langford, Juanita Palmer, and Arlene Hodgson, were cheerleaders for both the reserve and varsity games. Charles Zanin and Richard Castle were added to the cheerleading squad during the football season.

Dressed in the school colors of maroon and white, they led the crowds at football and basketball games. As cheerleaders it was their duty to instill enthusiasm in the student body and to make up new cheers. These cheers were introduced to the student body at pep assemblies.

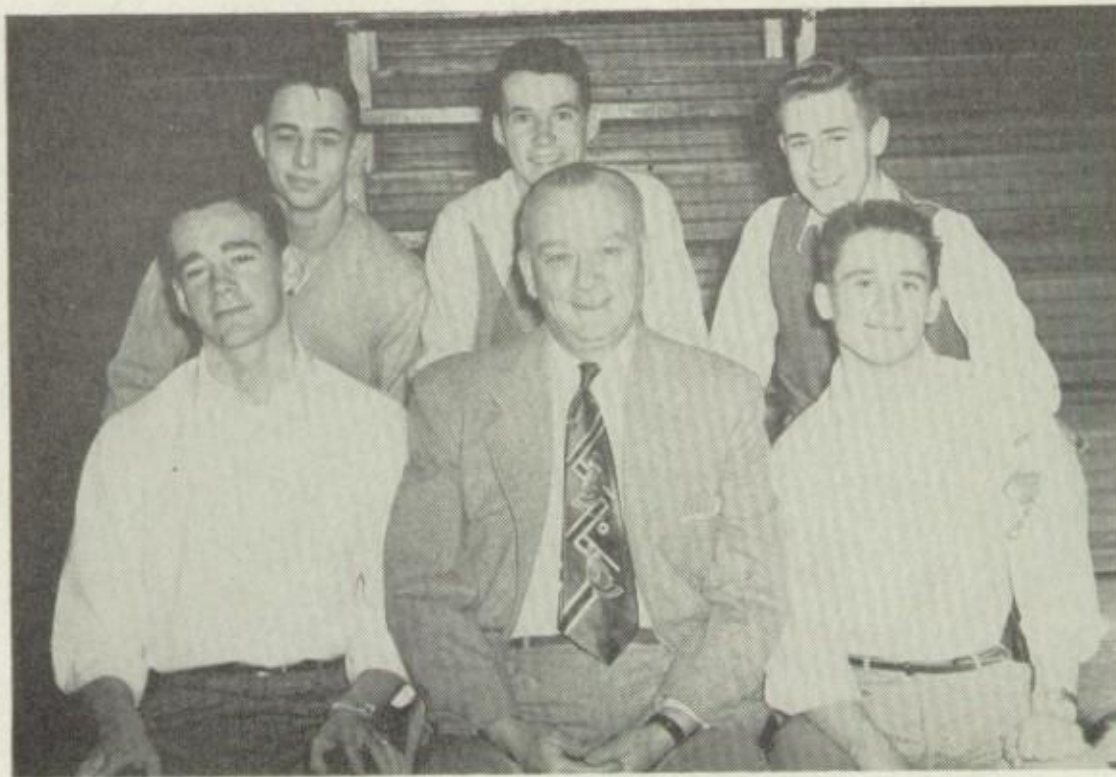

Cheerleaders who accumulated 100 points or more received a letter through B.A.A. for their services.

Any boy in Danville High School was eligible for membership in BAA, or Boy's Athletic Association. The chief aims of this organization were to further an active interest in athletics and to promote better sportsmanship among boys. The boys held major meetings three times a year to vote on the letters to be awarded to individual athletes in football, basketball, wrestling, swimming, track, tennis, cross country, baseball, and golf. In April a "D" banquet was held which honored those boys who earned a "D" in winter sports at which time Mr. Elzer Marx of WITY was the main speaker.

Don Groen was elected to guide the organization's activities throughout the '53-'54 school year. The other officers who helped him were Bill Christy, vice-president; Jim Hardy, secretary-treasurer; Jim Tipton, advertising manager, and Bill McMains, business manager. The adviser was Mr. Ned Whitesell, Athletic Director.

Activity in sports outside of school was available to any girl in DHS who joined the Girls' Athletic Association. This organization primarily promoted a greater interest in sports and good sportsmanship. This club met three nights a week after school to participate in various individual and team sports. Soccer, basketball, softball, bowling, swimming, hockey, tennis, and dancing were among those offered. Interclass tournaments were held during the seasons when team sports were played, thus giving the girls a chance for competitive play. Girls who actively participated in these sports were awarded numerals and letters.

Playdays, which were held throughout the state, acquainted girls with other G.A.A. members. Early in the fall, the state G.A.A. was invited to Danville for a DHS-sponsored workshop. Members attended a modern dance workshop at the University High School in Champaign. Playdays in this area were held at St. Joseph, Tolono, and U. of I. In May, grade school graduates were guests at a playday in DHS gym. The P.E. demonstration, the Gymkhana, was another project taken on by the active members. The girls were in charge of seeing that everything ran smoothly and all P.E. classes took part in the show. Each class demonstrated what they had learned previously during class periods. Social events included a Christmas party; a Mother-Daughter tea in January at which time new members were initiated; and a spring picnic for the presentation of awards.

Sonna Howell served as president of this sports-minded organization. She was assisted by vice-president Martha McIntosh, secretary, Lulabelle Crane; and treasurer, Judy King. Chairmen for the committees were Bonnie Lawson, sports; and Kathleen Barnes, points. Miss Donna Stuebe and Miss Christobel Bock were advisers for this organization. To earn a letter it is necessary to accumulate 1,000 Activity Points for after school participation in sports and 200 Health Points. The Activity Points were accumulated according to participation with four points given for each night of active attendance. A physical examination was required at the beginning of the year and fifty health points were given for a semester of hygiene.

Earning a G.A.A. "D" entitled the girls to become members of the Girls' "D" Association. This club was more or less an honorary or advance group of G.A.A. members. This was one of the most important goals that the underclassmen were striving for.

Jackie Miller was elected to serve as president of the "D" Association. Assisted by Miss Stuebe, "D" adviser, Jackie planned all of the various activities of this group.

names of many D.H.S. productions and their casts. This gives some evidence of the great number of students who, through the years, have gained experience in performing before an audience. Each one who has taken a part in plays and musicals and each who has helped in the planning and presentation of parties and assemblies, in fact, anyone who has worked under the pressure of responsibility has gained a great deal of self-confidence and has become better able to face the responsibilities that lie ahead.

Queen Pat was crowned by Donna, 1952 Queen as Greg and Connie stood by.

With thoughts of things that once were, the alumni of DHS return each year to their Alma Mater to share with present students the festivities of Homecoming.

This year they saw the crowning of Queen Pat Hurley at an assembly before the student body and again as they joined students of the present at a dance following the game which ended in a 13 to 13 tie.

They witnessed a new type of parade in which each homeroom participated. Each group thought of an idea to carry through while marching in the parade, and it was ruled that no cars would be allowed except those pulling floats.

They saw the happy smiles of the four girls, Sue Budnovich, Freshman; Alice Wittig, Sophomore; Judy Dill, Junior; and Carol Johnson, Senior, who were elected attendants of Queen Pat.

We feel sure many fond memories were recalled of days gone by.

Coming 1954

Student Council, which sponsored the Homecoming, got together a varied and talented group of performers for the assembly presented before the new queen and her court.

Former students were called upon to perform once again on the high school stage. Students were told of Homecomings in past years by Mr. Melvin Hall and Mrs. Lavada Fields Thornton presented a violin solo which would have inspired many struggling music students to keep up practice to attain their goal. A unique dance routine featuring a family group was presented by Mrs. Cromwell, instructor of dance, and her husband and son Terry, present Danville High School student.

Following the game, the annual Homecoming dance got underway. Former and present students mingled reminiscing over old times and talking over plans for the future. The Queen's dramatic entrance was emphasized by the sound of trumpets and the release of balloons and streamers which came floating through the air from the rafters above.

GAA archers appeared in the parade.

Fall Concert

Music lovers were thrilled by the presentation of the music department at the fifteenth annual fall concert.

Instrumental numbers were presented by the Senior Orchestra, Senior Band, and organ-piano artists. Under the direction of Mr. W. B. Holl, the Senior Orchestra played four selections including "Rosamunde Overture," "Symphony in F Major," "To a Wild Rose," and "Guarach-Linda Mujer."

An ensemble, which first performed at the last concert, featured piano-organ numbers. The selections played by this group directed by Miss Helen Wolff, were "Romance," "Waltz op. 15, No. 2," "In the Still of the Night," and "Romany Life."

The Senior Band, directed by Mr. Holl, performed four numbers, including "Overture-Die Fledermaus,"

"La Hora Pan Americana," "Vincent Youmans Fantasy," and "Ave Maria."

Vocal renditions were offered by the Fifth Hour Chorus and the A Cappella Choir. These groups were directed by Miss Pansy Legg and accompanied by Miss Helen Wolff.

The fifth hour group presented four numbers, which were "Cindy," "Ho-Lee—Oh-Ee-Ay," "Home on the Range," and "Day Is Dying in the West."

Soloists Bob Farmer and Marilyn Gerrard and dancers Pat Henk and Charles Carter were featured in the A Cappella Choir's variety of song. The concert was closed with an impressive rendition of "God of Our Fathers," featuring the A Cappella Choir and Senior Orchestra.

"Stag Line"

"Stag Line," selected by Dramatic Club as its production for this year, proved to be exceptional. The three-act comedy, by Anne Coulter Martens, was written chiefly about adolescents, and it presented problems that typical American teen-agers managed to create.

The play was based on the preparations for the marriage of Sylvia Mason, Maudie's older sister. Maudie, one of the more popular girls in the neighborhood, was accustomed to having her own way with both males and home problems. She deemed herself custodian of the wedding plans; however, something didn't go as smoothly as was hoped. One invitation, intended for the Mrs. Smith who was a client of the bridegroom's, was accidentally mailed to the dressmaker, Mrs. Smith. Mac, an old friend of the bridegroom, Jerry, created tension in the romance because he gave him every reason to believe lvia had altered her affections. In the last few minutes before the wedding, the wedding gown was missing.

Maudie tried to squirm out of a situation.

In addition to the problems of the marriage, audie had some difficulties of her own. After audie explained American techniques to educated-abroad Ronald, he tried to use her line on audie. She attempted to prove to Sylvia that she could "land" an older man as she went to work on ac. Lysbeth, Alix, and Julie, friends of Maudie, provided able competition throughout the play. audie's boyfriend, Davy, remained faithful throughout the play, regardless of her actions.

Finally, the marriage plans were straightened out, and the bride, groom, and wedding party departed for the church as the final curtain descended.

Moment

Viewers of 1954 Moments Musical were taken on a trip across the Atlantic to "A Spot in Old Ireland," presented by the Euterpean Singers. Dressed in traditional Irish peasant clothing, this select group rendered six lively selections. The bright green skirts and shamrocks swayed merrily as the singers gave vocal and dance interpretations of "The Kerry Dance." Fred Mauck sang the solo part for "The Tumble Down Shack in Athlone." The entire group joined in the singing of "Sweet Colleen." Patricia Henk, as the Rinncé Fada Dancer, danced to "My Name Is Kelly." Two other typical Irish songs, "How Are Things in Glocca Morra?" and "The Donavans," concluded the program. Jack Drews, Elaine Milhon, and John Miller shared vocal honors in these final numbers.

"Music a la Carte," by the DHS band and orchestra, was featured in this unit of the show. This talented group presented a wide variety of numbers, ranging from classical selections to original creations. Included in the unit were "Dancing Tamborines" by the clarinets, "Flute Cocktail," by the flutes, and "Hollywood Serenade." Two original numbers, "Jungle Drums" and "Serenade to an Insomniac," which featured Richard Castle, were both amusing and entertaining. Dancers provided various interpretations of "Ballet Parisienne." Intricate drill maneuvers were exhibited by the DHS majorettes to "Sound Off." Many other numbers were also featured in this enjoyable unit, which showed the versatility of the band members.

Musical

The third unit, "Out Where the West Begins," was presented by the A Cappella Choir. Gay calico dresses and old-fashioned suits added to the colorful stage settings. The appearances of Buffalo Bill, Wild Bill Hickok, General Grant, Sir Arthur Sullivan, and Calamity Jane, added still more western atmosphere.

"Out Where the West Begins," the opening number, was sung by the entire group. Howard Redding, as Rev. Smith, introduced the soloists as they appeared on the scene. Kay Taylor gave her rendition of "Habanera" from the opera "Carmen," Richard Hall and Sam Hurley shared honors in "Home on the Range;" Janice and Joyce Mahoney performed as the Salvation Army lassies in "Some Folks Do," Potato Creek Johnny, Ted Smith, sang and did a soft shoe dance; Carol Bahls re-created the role of Calamity Jane as she sang "The Deadwood Stage." Bob Farmer sang the impressive "The Hills of Home;" Terry Waltzer sang "Along the Navajo Trail;" Sara Strain, as the Indian Princess, sang "Pale Moon;" Tom Wurtsbaugh reminisced as he sang "That Old Girl of Mine." The finale, "On the Atchison, Topeka and the Santa Fe," exhibited intricate maneuvers and perfect timing.

The captivating songs, dances, and costumes will linger in the memory of all those who participated in or viewed the production. The entire production was under the direction of Miss Pansy Legg and Mr. W. B. Holl, and Miss Helen Wolff accompanied the singing numbers. Student organists performed between acts.

All School Party

The "Mardi Gras," as the All-School Party was called, furnished entertainment for everyone regardless of his likes or dislikes.

Barkers in the hall outside the gym added much to the fun, with their music and drums, and called attention to the various activities, such as the movies in the auditorium, square dancing in the Little Theater, and games of various kinds in the girls' gym. To complete the evening of fun, Lu George provided dance music in the boys' gym and Shirley Bowers, former DHS student, appeared as vocalist.

All activities were under the direction of a special committee of Student Council members. John Williamson was the chairman and he was aided by his committee of Marilyn Coolley, Sue Budnovich, Minerva Carter, Richard Castle, and Dean Bates. The various clubs were called on to help with the party by taking over the various games and stands.

"Remember the Mayne" was full of mystery and surprises. The sole witness to the death of the district attorney, Jeff Merrill, was struck from behind and left for dead. Instead, he seemed to have lost his memory, and to all queries from those who begged him to remember, or from those who hoped or demanded he would forget, he insisted he remembered nothing.

Pressure from a gunman's henchman, questioning, and concern on the part of his family and friends all availed nothing until the day of the trial. Surprising those set to guard them, Jeff prepared to go to the courthouse to testify as the play ended.

Danville Junior College, established in 1946 as an extension of the University of Illinois, ranked as a fully accredited two year college with its credits transferable to all colleges and universities throughout the country. The fast-growing college boasted an average enrollment of 150 and drew students from all Danvilleland.

Curricula in Liberal Arts, Pre-Med, Engineering,

Commerce, and Medical Technology, as well as courses in Teacher Training and Nursing Education were offered. Schedules were arranged to fit varying hours for the working students, a wide variety of courses being offered during the evening.

"All work and no play" was not the motto for DJC students so social and other extra-curricular activities were carried on throughout the school year. In the fall, students journeyed to Camp Ta Wa Si on Lake Vermilion for a delightful picnic while a tea was one of the highlights of the Christmas season. Student nurses sponsored a Valentine party for all college students at the Lake View Nurses' Home. In the spring a skating party was held at the Illini Roller Palace. Other activities included a weekly column, "Junior College Jottings," in the Commercial News; Kollege Kapers, the annual stunt show; and regular convocations.

Although meeting in the high school building, the students made their activities completely separated.

Guiding the activities of the freshman class was O. J. Michael, President. He was assisted by Jo Anne Boren, Vice-President; Virginia DeMotte, Secretary-Treasurer, Jan Dazey and Jerry Armbrust, Student Council. Leading the sophomores were Guy Jones, President; Diana Kutch, Vice-President; Henry Plahn, Secretary-Treasurer; Doris Shoemaker, Student Council.

Miss Mary Miller was college dean, and Miss Mary Diller was the office secretary. Under the guidance of a very competent college staff, DJC completed a very successful school year.

We think, and choose

our classmates • • •

Although students seldom realize it when they make a new friend they are exercising one of their inherited rights, the principle of free choice. In our country and in our school students associate with people of many varied backgrounds. We do not choose our friends for their position. Rather, we like people for their own qualities. We are drawn by a pleasing smile, an easy-going attitude or an interesting personality. On the whole, we strive to be democratic in the selection of our friends and not to be influenced by first appearances.

Freshman Class

When the class of 1957 first entered DHS, it was timid and frightened, as was any new class. The experiences of attending classes, joining clubs, meeting new people, and enjoying presentations had various effects on these greenies, for they are now better equipped to handle their daily lives around DHS.

Anticipating the thought of becoming sophomores, the freshmen finally discarded those initial looks of greenness. This active group, now better acquainted with the habits and customs of DHS students, was prepared to assist next year's freshmen.

The highlight of the year's social activities was a freshman skating party held at the Illini Roller Palace in February. This funpacked event was planned by a committee of class officers. Cooperation and hard work made this party one these students will never forget.

Under the guidance of adviser Mr. Frank Dugas, the class elected its officers in the fall. Those elected included the following: Charles Ferris, president; Judy Coan, vice-president, Marilyn Coopersmith, secretary-treasurer; and Sue Budnovich, Larry Shanks, and Marilyn Coolley, student council representatives. It was under the capable leadership of the adviser and class officers that the class of 1957 completed a successful school year. The sophomore year held the outlook of many opportunities and much pleasure yet-to-come.

Chuck and Sue read about the party.

A big crowd of freshmen enjoyed the yearly skate.

Seated: W. Dickson, J. Roberts, Pres., K. Lash.

Mr. Robertson and President Jerry talked over plans.

Sophomore Class

Two years of fun and study have flown by rapidly for the ambitious class of '56. It is now anxious to enter the ranks of the upper classmen and to assume the leadership of DHS. This class is well prepared to become the leaders of '55 and '56, for it has maintained a good turnout for clubs and other school activities. Its energy is unlimited, and its goal is high.

During the basketball season, the class sponsored a dance in the DHS gym featuring Joe Berns' Orchestra. This event was planned by social chairman, Sharon McMullen, her committee, and Mrs. Dorothy Colberg, and it was held after the basketball game. Another project of the class was decorating the boy's gym for the dance at the All-School Party. Following the theme of the "Mardi-Gras," the class chose a wide variety of brilliant colors for the decorations.

Guided by adviser Glen Robertson, the following officers were elected to head the class: Jerry Roberts, president; Wilbur Dickson, vice-president; Kay Lash, secretary; Sharon McMullen, social chairman, and Jim Davis, Larry Hawkins, and Jackee Mervis, Student Council representatives.

Mrs. Colberg helped plan the sophomore dance.

We all enjoyed attending the dance after the basketball game.

Absent: P. Langford.

Junior Class

The class of 1955 will soon enter its last year of high school. This group has completed a full, happy junior year and taken its share of school responsibilities.

The Juniors sponsored the first dance of the football season in the DHS gym, assisted with the All-School Party, and gave the traditional Junior-Senior Prom. Social co-chairmen, Janice Mahoney and Judy Williamson, were in charge of the Prom and committees were appointed to complete the arrangements. Miss Helen Wolff, Junior class adviser, assisted with the plans.

Phil Livengood led the class through its third year. The other class officers were Lela Shull, vice-president; Marilyn Mackin, secretary-treasurer; Janice Mahoney and Judy Williamson, co-social chairmen; and Carol Bahls, Dean Bates, and Pat Langford, Student Council representatives.

Bob Howell and Nan Stufflebeam helped Pat Langford decorate the gym.

Senior

We, the class of 1954, have brought to a close the fourth and final chapter of our lives at DHS. Happy memories abundantly fill the pages as we recall the clubs, parties, sports, plays, musicals, and studies, all of which played an active part in our busy lives. When we entered high school, we were bewildered freshmen, but now, four years later, we have prepared to enter the world on our own.

As freshmen, we elected Tom Wurtsbaugh to lead us through our first year. None of us will ever forget the participation of our basketball team in the "Sweet Sixteen," even though it was defeated by Decatur. Ted Smith piloted us through our sophomore year, and Bill Hannah was elected president our junior year. As we embarked upon our final year, we again chose Bill Hannah as president. Also again, we were pleased to see our basketball team journey to Champaign for the "Sweet Sixteen" only to see them defeated by the eventual state champion, Mount Vernon.

Commencement marked the beginning of a new chapter in our lives, as we prepared to enter the world as educated American citizens. Leaving DHS is a big step and, in a way, sad, but we realize that the future holds great opportunities for us. The friends we have made and the experiences we have gained through participation in school activities have enriched our lives and these things will always remain in our memories.

To assist President Hannah, we elected the following Senior officers: Phillip Ribbe, vice-president; Donna Ford, secretary, and Ruth Hafner, Dale Heien, and Patty Stickler, student council representatives. Sandra Pichon, social chairman, helped plan the Junior-Senior Prom, and Judy King wrote the class history.

"The hopes of today are the lights of tomorrow" was the motto chosen and crimson and white were chosen as the class colors. A gift was presented to the school by the gift chairman Jim Hardy. Other committee chairmen were: Karen Williams, invitation; Marilyn Gerrard, song; Jean Wade, motto; Kenneth Lewis, color, and Carol Frey and Bob Hible, program.

The class of '54 wishes to thank its teachers, adviser, Miss Ruth Sandeson, and others who gave us guidance and without whom a successful year would not have been possible.

In Memoriam . . .

Danville High School was saddened near the end of last year by the death of Florence Hires. A member of last year's class, she had been forced to leave school because of illness and had expected to graduate with the class of 1954. She was a good student and well-liked by all who knew her. In Danville High School she was a member of Y-Teens. She was also a member of the Calvary Baptist Church. Florence was the daughter of Mrs. Mary Hires and was born June 5, 1934 and died May 22, 1953.

College Day drew many interested queries, both in the Little Theatre and the Library.

Pat Stickler and Bill Hannah

Best Boy and Girl Citizens

The highest honor that a Senior can obtain is that of being chosen by his classmates as best boy or girl citizen, an honor which is based on honesty, dependability, scholastic standing, leadership, service, and personality.

This year's Senior Class chose Patricia Stickler and Bill Hannah as leaders in these fields.

Pat took an active part in Student Council and served her class as Social Chairman her Sophomore and Junior years. She was active in Dramatic Club and had a part in "Sno Haven," the production of the club her Junior year and also had a part in this year's Senior Class Play, "Remember the Mayne."

Bill, as president of the Senior class, also took an active part in Student Council. This was Bill's second year in the capacity of class president, as he also served his Junior year. His other activities included being circulation manager of the Medley and center on the basketball team.

The Daughters of the American Revolution and Girls' Club presented the Best Girl Citizen awards and Kiwanis honored the Best Boy Citizen.

Pat worked often in Miss Thompson's office.

Bill kept busy with Medley subscriptions.

LIGHTS OF TOMORROW

WORDS BY GERAIE COLE

MUSIC BY
ROSEMARY DODSON

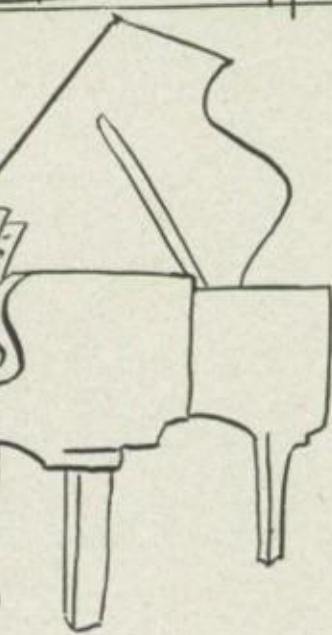

As students today, we clearly can see, Tomorrow good citizens we'll want to be. Our
And though we must part, we'll never forget, To our alma mater, we'll still owe a debt. For Chosen colors are crimson and white. They will bring us memories so vivid and bright. Of paving smoothly the long road of life, Making us good citizens and working for right, for our alma mater our D.H.S. Happy are we with the lights of success mem'ries of good times, when we were here, For joy and fellowship bringing us cheer

The lights of tomorrow are the hopes of today; Leading us on-ward lighting our way

Faith, ever trusting, hope in our hearts; On the great stage of life we'll play our parts.

Students learn of free enterprise • • •

One of the American rights with which high school students have close contact is that of free enterprise in business. Students see examples of free competition in the ads of newspapers and magazines. Because merchants know that teen-age purchases of such things as clothing and other merchandise make up a large part of their business, they use their best salesmanship tactics in order to draw the crowd to their store instead of the one across the street. The students, now faced with a decision of where to buy, must determine which merchant offers the best advertising to make his products seem the most desirable.

Our Advertisers

We, of the Medley Staff, wish to take this opportunity to extend our deepest appreciation to our advertisers for their loyalty and support. Through their cooperation, many of the special features in this book have been made possible. The organizations listed below represent Danville's leading business firms. Give them your support in return.

Hi Gene:
Best of luck
to a swell guy.
Remember all our good times we finally avoided each other because of jealousy. Be real good this summer & see you next fall. (might even see you this summer.)

Hi -
"Sure got a kick" out of seeing you walk around the hall this year. Just think you've got three more years to make the most of them and have a terrific time.

Hi "kid",
Loads of luck.
Be good to Sally.
See you a church?
